Museums play important role in our time: they are the places, where the history remains forever.

The attendance of museums and galleries

Nowadays, a huge number of people are drawn on different museum's exhibits. Per year this number is increasing. For example, the attendance of the* has grew up from 2.6 mln to 5.6 mln visitors from 2013 to 2017; the National Gallery's attendance rates from 2.7 mln to 4.8 mln at the same time period. The main function of museums is to give an opportunity to see a tangible heritage of our world. That is why they appeal so many visitors. Unfortunately, it's not always like that. For some reasons, the Natural History Museum, as well as the Science Museum have lost their visitors.

Some recommendations to the museum boards of directors.

To increase people's attendance there should all the time be something new and interesting. Museums should be modernised, so they would be comfortable and beautiful. Respectively, the entrance should be free for children, teenagers and elders.

Museums are still a popular kind of activity that helps to spend time learning something new.
